CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Preface

TO MY MANY FLOWER-MINDED FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS.—Well, it is 1955 now, and time to get out a new catalogue. I have been doing this same thing each spring now for the past twenty-odd years, but never have I had such a year to report on as we had in 1954. The year 1953 was considered a real “dry” year, but it was absolutely “nothing” when compared with 1954. The past year started off fair—occasional showers, but these played out early in the summer and from then on we really suffered. Springs dried up, many wells either went dry or the water level got dangerously low, and eventually in the late fall most of the creeks in this vicinity went “bone” dry—one could walk dryshod on the creek bed. To counteract this as much as possible I kept my yard man watering almost continuously (you can imagine my water bills), and while I did lose hundreds of plants, I managed to carry quite a number through—though fewer of each variety than I would have liked. For some reason I do not understand, those that lived through the drought did produce some nice blooms, and I did get to see the blooms of the new varieties I bought in the spring—particularly some new varieties I imported from Belgium. They really turned in a grand performance. Also I am glad to be able to report that I had practically no trouble with the Thrip again the past year, and while I kept my mixture of DDT, Chlordane and Fermate handy, it really was not necessary. This freedom from Thrip trouble I believe is largely due to the fact that I had my whole garden (a little over an acre) treated with 50% wettable DDT during the spring. If that was not responsible for the absence of the pesky Thrip, then I don’t know what did the trick. Anyway, I hope I will be just as lucky this year, and if so I won’t question the “why” of it, but will just accept the good luck without question (Personally I don’t like to use a dust gun or sprayer). So, if you are having Thrip trouble (and many people do and don’t know it), I would suggest that you have your whole garden treated with 50% wettable DDT (not the ordinary 5 or 10 percent kind used in dusting). It will have absolutely no effect on vegetables, fruits or flowers grown on the soil and will remain effective for 5 years. It is well worth trying, don’t you think?

BLOOMING DATES

Blooming dates are very much desired by most people who grow mums outside (as most of my customer-friends do), and I have included them. However, they are approximations only and I have leaned over backwards in trying not to convey the wrong impression as to blooming dates. If there is any error it will be that the variety blooms earlier (not later) than the date I have given. In figuring blooming dates for your locality, remember the blooming date advances as one goes north and recedes as one goes south. For instance a variety in full bloom here will not reach a similar stage in New Orleans until a week later. This should enable you to adjust the dates to your locality. However, just in case I have “leaned over backwards” a little too much in some cases I would appreciate it if you would write me at blooming time, stating how the different varieties behaved for you and the date each variety was in full bloom—not just showing color. By doing this, and enabling me to correct any errors in blooming dates, you may enable some one to buy a variety they thought would not bloom for them, or—on the other hand, keep some one from wasting money on a variety that blooms too late for their locality.

DELIVERY DATES AND TYPE OF PLANTS

Delivery will be made this spring—from the last of March on, and will consist of small “plants”—not the ordinary “rooted cutting” that requires potting up and growing on some time before they can be set in their permanent location. The plants I will ship you may be either a root division taken off and grown in a cold frame until it has reached the "plant" stage, or a rooted cutting that has been grown in a cold frame until it also has reached the "plant" stage. In either case the plants may be set in their permanent location promptly on arrival. They will be shipped bare root, wrapped in damp moss and then carefully packed. Formerly, I used excelsior in packing, but this year I intend to use what I believe to be an improved method, and in order to find out how it works, would appreciate a card from you stating the condition of the plants on arrival, and what you think of the new pack method as compared with the old excelsior method. In the far western tier of states shipment by air is strongly recommended, and if you desire this please be sure to include sufficient postage to cover air shipment. Air shipment is not nearly as expensive as would appear at first glance, as plants so shipped are shipped in cellophane bags without any packing material whatever. Since they stay cool while en route they can be shipped across the United States and arrive at destination just as fresh as when they started their journey—yet not a particle of packing material is around the roots. In fact last year I shipped packages so packed to both Belgium and Japan, and they arrived in good condition.

CORRECT LABELING OF PLANTS

I realize that there seems to be a kind of "racket" in the mum business, and that quite often when you order a very definite variety, and give the plants unusually good attention during the growing season, you may be rewarded in the fall by very inferior blooms—undoubtedly not the variety you ordered although the plant bore the correct name on the label. Unfortunately, nature seems to have unintentionally aided in this "racket," as with few exceptions it is impossible to tell one variety from another in the young plant or cutting stage. Fully realizing this, I have resolved to make my little mum business unique in that you will get what you order, or if you permit substitutions to correctly label the plant or plants I ship. Most of my business now is repeat orders—so that policy must be appreciated by discriminating flower-friends.

To carry out this policy it is necessary that I personally gather, label, pack and ship each order myself (which necessarily limits it to a small volume), and in return I would appreciate a postcard stating the condition of the plants on arrival, as well as any suggestions you may have towards improving my packing methods. (I have received some good suggestions from customers.)

However, being human, an occasional error will occur, and in such cases I would prefer to know about it—rather than be judged guilty of deliberate mis-labeling. Last year I don't think I mixed up any shipments, but if I ever do I certainly would like to know about it, and I promise to make prompt adjustment.

WARRANTY

During my over 20 years experience in dealing with the public I have found only rare instances of dishonesty—practically all people who grow flowers are scrupulously honest, but in order to protect myself in these rare instances I wish it distinctly understood that I give no warranty, expressed or implied, as to description, quality or productiveness of any plants, bulbs or tubers I send out.

CONCLUSION

With the above explanation and under the conditions stated, I am offering limited quantities of the varieties listed within.

Now, when I say "limited quantities" I really mean just that, as this year I am reasonably certain there will be an unusually heavy demand for plants to replace those that died during the drought, and since my surplus will be sharply curtailed, I am sincere when I urge anyone desiring to grow mums in 1955 to get their order in pronto, PDQ, or even sooner than quick; also, if at all possible, please give a number of acceptable substitutions when ordering, just in case some varieties you want are exhausted by the time your order is received.

P. O. Box 574, Montgomery, Alabama

P. S.—As a personal favor to me, after you have signed your name, PLEASE print your name immediately underneath the written signature. I have lost far too much religion trying to figure out people's names, and I am sure you will agree that no one has any religion to lose.

P. P. S.—I have received a world of comment on the above postscript, but I still stick to my guns that nothing makes me lose my religion quicker than trying to figure out a half-legible signature. I guess I will never know why a person will very carefully print out the variety R A Y O N A N T E (and often describe the bloom too), and then when the order is finished sign it with a signature that looks just about like a hen's scratching. It apparently never occurs to them that all I need to identify the variety RAYONANTE is the first few letters; whereas I will need to know every letter of their name or the package may not reach them. However, such is human nature, and I don't suppose it can be changed, so just for my sake PLEASE CONTINUE TO PRINT YOUR NAME BENEATH YOUR WRITTEN SIGNATURE.

NOTE: The few descriptive words I have used following each variety name in the lists below are not intended to be a real description of the variety—it would take a number of lines to do this and the printer's bill would be "a whopper". They are merely intended to be just a "guide" to those not familiar with the different varieties. (Fortunately, a majority of my customer-friends are reasonably familiar with many different varieties, and for those just the variety name is sufficient.)

ENGLISH VARIETIES

For the past several issues I have included in my catalogues considerable comment about the English varieties; their major characteristics, how they became so widely disseminated, their relative advantages and disadvantages. Now they do combine earliness with larger-than-average size for outdoor-grown mums (though not exhibition size). They thus afford people in the central belt of the United States the opportunity of growing good-sized blooms out in the open garden—something it is difficult to do with the usual standard and exhibition varieties. Consequently, gardeners who had been growing the hardy types in their gardens, welcomed with open arms this new “strain” that would give them larger blooms on equally hardy plants. However, their popularity has suffered considerably in the last year or so, as much progress has been made by our American hybridizers along the same line; that is of producing varieties that could be grown outside and yet produce good-sized blooms on plants that were reasonably hardy. Also, many crosses and re-crosses have been made with the original English “strain”, to the extent that the real “English” strain has about lost its identity as such. Many of the multitude of new varieties introduced each year are hybrids, or crosses, with English varieties.

The past year was unusually hard on my English varieties, as they were in a portion of my garden that I could not reach with the hose. Some varieties I lost completely—some only a few plants survived. As a result I will no longer carry in this or future catalogues a separate listing under the caption “English Varieties”, but will include the English and their various hybrids in the appropriate captions, as determined by their size, color, etc.

IMPORTATIONS

Last spring I received from a flower-friend in Belgium a number of color photographs of his choice of the better exhibition varieties as grown in Belgium and Northern France. I thought so well of them that I ordered a dozen or so just to experiment with. The plants arrived by air mail in good condition and proved to be very vigorous in growth. As previously mentioned in the Preface, they did unusually well despite our unprecedented drought, and I was well pleased with the blooms—so much so in fact that I am listing below several varieties that I have a reasonable surplus of:

Plants 50¢ Each—As Long as They Last.

CONGRES D'ORLEANS.—Large incurved bloom; color deep red with maroon reverse; very vigorous growth; responds well to disbudding.

HEROS J. GUIZONNIER.—Immense flower with incurved center; color deep rose-purple. Plant vigorous and bloom long-lasting. Tall erect growth.

LUCIFER.—A Japanese incurved type; very large bloom; color carmine red.

SOUVENIR De J. MOULIN.—A grand incurved flower, red with buff or bronze reverse. Excellent growth habit and beautiful foliage.

SUCY.—Magnificent white bloom; irregularly incurved and of exhibition size. Responds well to disbudding, but will produce fair-sized blooms without disbudding. Has won a number of prizes in Europe.

Mme. DUMONT.—The yellow sport of Sacy; possesses all the excellent qualities of Sacy—only difference is the color.

These have erect growth habits, are around 4 ft. tall, and the foliage is unusually nice. With me, HEROS J. GUIZON-NIER blooms in late October, all the others in early November.

(Be sure to include packing and transportation charges)

POMPONS, BUTTONS, DECORATIVES, CUSHIONS and HARDIES

Note. This caption embraces quite a wide range in sizes of bloom as well as colors and types of bloom—in fact many of the newer hardies produce blooms comparable with the medium-sized standards. When well grown and properly disbudded four and five inch blooms are easily obtained with many of the late hardy introductions.

OTHER FLOWERS

While the Chrysanthemum has for many years been my "true love", I am not prejudiced against other flowers, and when I see something I particularly like I usually add it to my collection. During the past years I have added quite a number of items, and as a consequence had to buy the adjoining vacant lots to enlarge my garden — over an acre now. These additions were mostly of the bulb type, and I have truly enjoyed their flowers, as they bloom long before even the earliest mum shows color. It has been said that "An honest confession is good for the soul", so I will confess that during the past few years I have also had quite a "love affair" with lilies (with the wife's permission, of course). It has passed the "puppy love" stage, so I imagine it is serious. Anyway, I now have as permanent "fixtures" in my garden selections from the better varieties of lilies grown in these United States, even including a few of the newer hybrids recently brought to a high state of perfection by the hybridizers in the Pacific Northwest. Consequently, this year I have a few bulbs surplus in a number of varieties, and although space will not permit any descriptions, I shall list them below and hope you have seen some of the color-pictures and read their descriptions in some of the catalogues gotten out by the bulb specialists—if so, you will then know exactly how each of the following will look in your garden. With this explanation, I list my surplus items for 1955, all bulbs being FOB here.

LYCORIS

Radiata, the well-known Red Spider Lily (formerly known as NERINE, Sarniensis). Fall blooming; hardy over most of the U. S. In foliage during the winter; dormant during the summer; blooms in fall before any foliage appears. Bulbs 50¢ per doz.; $4.00 per hundred bulbs, or $35.00 per thousand.

AUREUM, the scarce and unusual Yellow Spider Lily; Fall blooming and equally hardy; bloom very outstanding. 35¢ per bulb or 3 bulbs for $1.00.

IRIS, Spuria

Ochroleuca Gigantea strain of this Iris; often blooms here for Mother's Day; Standards white, falls yellow; very hardy and insect free. 35¢ per rhizome or root division, or $3.50 per dozen.

IRIS, Dutch

Wedgewood, Golden Harvest or White Perfection—the best of the light blue, golden yellow and pure white varieties. Either variety, 75¢ per doz. bulbs.

NARCISSI-DAFFODILS

Sir Watkin, Emperor, Laurens Koster, Paperwhite, Yellow Paperwhite, or a Mixture. (Varieties too well known to need any description). Any variety 75¢ per dozen; 50¢ per dozen for the mixture of all varieties, or $4.50 per hundred or $35.00 per thousand.

GLADIOLUS

Byzantinus Rubra (sold under the name "Flash" Gladiolus, and also known locally as the "Jacob's Ladder" Gladiolus. By any name it is a very welcome addition to the Gladiolus family. The plant has typical gladiolus foliage, grows around 2 ft. tall, and here in mid-April produces a typical gladiolus spike with bright scarlet blooms. The bulbs are considerably smaller than the regular gladiolus varieties; they do not produce a new bulb each year on top of the old bulb (hence can be left undisturbed for several years if planted reasonably deep and handled as you would tulip bulbs); and they are hardy to at least 25 degrees below zero. No insect seems to bother either bulb, foliage or bloom. Can supply a limited number of dozen at 75 cents per dozen, FOB here.

LILIES

Bermuda, Creole, Croft, Ace, Estate (different varieties of what is usually called the "Easter Lily"). Any variety 35 cents per bulb or 3 bulbs for $1.00.

Auratum, the famous "Gold Banded Lily of Japan"—50¢ per bulb straight.

Red Russian, Creelman, Crow Hybrids—35¢ per bulb, or 3 for $1.00.

Candidum and Testaceum (The Madonna and Nankeen Lilies)—35¢ per bulb straight.

Regal and Tiger—25¢ per bulb.

In addition to the above better-known varieties of lilies, I also have a small surplus in the following newer varieties only recently introduced by the hybridizers in the Pacific Northwest. (Full-page color advertisements of a number of these lilies appeared in our flower magazines during the last summer—I hope you saw them or can refer to them, as they are truly very outstanding). Here is the list:

Bellingham Hybrids	50	cents	each	or	3	for	$1.25
Enchantment	50	"	"	"	3	"	1.35
Golden Chalice Strain	50	"	"	"	3	"	1.35
Harlequin	75	"	"	"	3	"	2.00
Martagon Album	1.00		"	"	3	"	2.75
Mid-Century Hybrids	50	"	"	"	3	"	1.35
Olympic Hybrids	65	"	"	"	3	"	1.75
Pagoda	1.00		"	"	3	"	2.75
Valencia	1.00		"	"	3	"	2.75
Sunset Lily	.50	"	"	"	3	"	1.35
Fiesta Hybrids	50	"	"	"	3	"	1.25

NOTE.—The Lycoris bulbs will be shipped in early summer to permit fall blooming, the Iris (both Spuria and Dutch) will be shipped in mid-summer, the Narcissi-Daffodil bulbs in late summer, and the lily bulbs in early fall—all FOB here, so be sure to include parcel post charges in your order.

Am sending you 3 copies of my 1955 mum catalogue.

I honestly believe this is the best private collection of mum varieties in the southeast.
